Bathroom Accessories to Build an ADA Compliant Bathroom

01

Wheelchair Accessible Sinks and Countertops:

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) sets important standards for accessible bathroom fixtures, including sinks. ADA-approved sinks and countertops are designed to offer plenty of knee clearance, making them easier to use for people with disabilities. When you're choosing an ADA-compliant sink, the main thing to keep in mind is the height—it's best to mount it no higher than 34 inches from the floor to ensure everyone can use it comfortably.

03

Walk-In Showers:

ADA walk-in showers are made to be accessible for folks who use wheelchairs. The guidelines say they should be at least 60 inches by 30 inches, which provides enough room for someone to easily enter with a wheelchair or shower chair. If you have the space, going larger is definitely an option! Also, the threshold for these showers should be no higher than half an inch, making it simple to roll in and out.

02

Shower Seat:

A built in shower seat is a fantastic addition for both safety and comfort. El Yoku's wall mounted shower chair in walk-in shower really stands out with its thoughtful design and top-notch craftsmanship. Our folding shower seat can also be used for seniors and the elderly as it is built to support up to 150 kg without wobbling, and it only has a slight play of about 3 degrees when in use. You can trust our ADA shower seat to provide a stable and comfortable experience every time you use it.

Grab Bars:

ADA Grab bars for shower are a valuable addition to any bathroom, helping to prevent slips and falls.
